The airship will go up at Hardin County Fair tomorrow, but the editor of the News never wants to go up as long as he can stay on the earth.—E zabethtown News

Maurice Prevost, of Paris, here to compete in aeroplane events in New York, has announced that he wanted to take home an American wife. "I will take her up in the air," he announced, "and there will make love to her and marry her. I much admire the American girls I have met. They tell me the finest of all are in Chicago and I want to meet some of them."

The September Woman's Home Companion is the fall fashion number. Under the direction of Grace Margaret Gould, who edits the Fashion Department, women are shown how they may dress fashionably and economically. There is a great variety of fashion articles and illustrations, including all the latest news from Paris and New York, which, as everybody knows, are the centers of dress ideas. Miss Gould's contention is that women can keep in style and yet not spend extravagant sums of money. She proves her point ably and presents it entertainingly.

Glorious News

News from Dr. J. T. Curtiss, Dwight, Kan. He writes: "I not only have cured bad cases of eczema in my patients with Electric Bitters, but also cured myself by them of the same disease. I feel sure they will benefit any case of eczema." This shows what thousands have proved, that Electric Bitters is a most effective blood purifier. Its an excellent remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Price 50 cents. Satisfaction guaranteed by all druggists.

Electrify the Pupils.

They are using electricity in primary school education in Stockholm. Just how it is used does not appear, but we are told that the "classroom is subjected to electricity." And records are being kept to ascertain whether the electrically trained youngsters acquire the three Rs with greater precision and dispatch than those that are being brought up on sunlight, common sense and the rod.

Speechless For Thanks.

Mena, Ark.—"I find Cardui to be all you represent," writes Mrs. H. B. York, of this city. "I suffered from womanly ailments for nearly two years before I tried Cardui. I have been so relieved since taking it I cannot say enough in its praise. It has done me a world of good and I recommend Cardui to all women." Cardui is over fifty years old and the demand is greater today than ever. Cardui is the standard tonic medicine for women of every age. Would you like to be well and strong? Then take Cardui. Its record shows that it will help you. Begin today. Why wait.

As He Understood It.

A Portobello (Scotland) schoolboy has produced the champion bowler of the season. The passage for paraphrase was from Kingsley: "For men must work and women must weep, though storms be sudden and waters deep, and the harbor bar be moaning." "Men and women," said the youngster, "must keep on working though the inn at the harbor is groaning for its customers."

Repels Attack Of Death.

"Five years ago two doctors told me I had only two years to live." This startling statement was made by Stillman Green, Malachite, Col. "They told me I would die with consumption. It was up to me then to try the best lung medicine and I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery. It was well I did, for to-day I am working and believe I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure that has cheated the grave of another victim." Its folly to suffer with coughs, colds or other throat and lung troubles now. Take the cure that's safest. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free at all druggists.

A Lead Pencil Danger.

In the United States the danger of putting pencils in the mouth has long been recognized, and in all the schools every precaution is taken to prevent the interchange of pencils as well as the moistening of them with the lips. A great many children and even their elders, who ought to know better, persist in putting pencils in their mouth regardless of the risk they run.

To Mothers---And Others.

THE UNIVERSAL RING.

A farmer, living along one of the rural telephone lines made a statement, that he could call any one of the 40 patrons of the line, with one ring. Manufacturers and promoters, thinking it would be a great thing and would revolutionize the rural telephone lines, sent their representatives to investigate the matter. A young man from New York was the first to interview the farmer. He asked this worthy, if it was true that he could do what he claimed, and how he did it.

"Yes, it's true," answered the farmer. "And I will show you how it is done by calling Bill Jones, who lives five miles down the line."

He then told the young man to ring up, which he did, and he heard 40 receivers come down.

"Are they on?" asked the farmer. "Yes, all 40 of them," answered the young man, and handed the receiver to the farmer.

"Hello, are you all on the line?"

"Yes," answered 40 voices.

"Good, all get off but Bill Jones, then."

PERFECTLY NATURAL.

Judge—You say the man died a natural death?

Witness—Yes, Your Honor.

"But, I thought he was shot?"

"So he was, judge. But he was practicing on the trombone at the time."

ALL GRIST FOR THE BRIDE

Other Women in the House Have Small Chance of Receiving Brides That Are Sent Home.

An uptown woman who nearly got stalled in a Ninth street car with a bundle of merchandise gave this reason for carrying home her own parcels, according to the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"There is a prospective bride in our boarding-house," she said. "Everything in the dry goods line is grist to the mill of the woman about to be married. Other women who have the misfortune to live in the same house shop under difficulties. The only way they can insure the enjoyment of their own purchases is to carry them home."

"If the things are delivered the bride snaps them up. Possibly she has no real shoplifting propensities, but circumstances combine to make her a thief. Servants bring to her room all parcels of whatever size and shape that come to that front door. So many of the things do belong to her that to read the label or listen to what the delivery boy says is considered superfluous exertion. And the bride is equally disdainful of a preliminary examination. Egotically she rips off wrappers and digs into contents."

"Yesterday I heard her raising the roof because a certain shop had sent her six pairs of black silk stockings. Instead of the pink, blue and tan she had ordered. After she had sent the stockings back and had the money refunded I discovered the stockings were mine. I cannot afford to contribute these parcels to the bride's wardrobe, so I am carrying them home."

FOUND AN ECONOMICAL PAIR

Most Joyous Occasion of Life Failed to Make Them "Loosen Up," to Young Clergyman's Dismay.

A clergyman in Cherryvale tells Mrs. Moffett that when he was a struggling young preacher and a marriage fee looked like several square meals to him, he was called upon to officiate at the wedding of a wealthy young farmer to the daughter of another farmer, also very wealthy and widely known in the county. The night of the wedding was a stormy one and the train to the little country station was two hours late, so the preacher hired a rig and drove the entire 12 miles, getting there just in time to miss supper. The wedding was a brilliant affair and after the ceremony the groom called the minister aside and told him how much he appreciated his coming through the storm and handed him a $2 bill—not enough to pay the team hire. As the preacher sat stunned, gazing at the money, the bride's father came in and the groom left. "How much did he give you?" asked the father. "Only two dollars," replied the preacher. "Why, that is a shame," exclaimed the father. "After all your trouble, too. He's terrible close with money. Don't say a word to any one, but take this." And as the old man slipped away the preacher, much touched, opened his hand and found a $1 bill.—Kansas City Star.

Honesty Increasing.

On her return from marketing, the young matron of the upper West side said to a caller: "I believe the sense of honesty is increasing in New York, at least in this locality. This morning I called the attention of a salesman to a small mistake he had made in giving me change, the mistake being in my favor. The proprietor, who was standing near, said to me: 'You're honest. You'll get along all right.' Not so many years ago the thought that seemed far too prevalent in this country was that only some clever form of dishonesty could 'get along all right.' The merchant who could trick a customer was supposed to be the smart fellow, and it was assumed an honest person was sure to get the little end of everything. I am delighted to find even one man who realizes that honesty is actually indispensable to success, and it is especially pleasing to find him in a place where I can deal with him regularly."—New York Press.

Tantalum Pens.

Pens for writing purposes are being manufactured today in Germany by a process which is exciting some curiosity. The trouble found with steel pens is that they oxidize easily and the ink sticks to them. This fault is not to be found with gold pens; but, on the other hand, these are too flexible to be entirely satisfactory. Moreover, in order to form a point suitable for writing purposes, the material of that part of the pen has to be mixed with some hard metal like iridium and this operation is both complicated and expensive. This new pen is of tantalum and comes to the manufacturer in the form of a black powder. The pen that is made from this has the tenacity of steel and the flexibility of gold.—Harper's Weekly.

Appropriate.

Gazing at a group of nine children gathered about a small stoop, an old lady called one of the little girls. "Are all of these children your sisters and brothers?" she asked. "Yes, mum," replied the youngster. "What is the largest one named?" "Maxie, mum." "And what do you call the smaller one?" "Minnie, mum."
